Depart: Trailhead
Ends: Redtail Junction

Distance: 0.93 miles
Elevation gain: 473 ft

Our most popular trail. Starts at the trailhead and head through the West side of the parking lot to go through a field of rabbit brush (field of gold when they bloom!), and head up the hill in the most beautiful impressive canyon thought volcanic rocks! The bottom of the steep section is called the Dry Waterfall, and is the acre sponsored by the community for the kiddos (the kid's acre). Search for all kind of native plants in the narrows, such as the gorgeous Indian Paintbrush, then for Bitterroot up on the plateau. Admire the Blacktail Mountains from the bench at Redtail Junction.
